PARTY AS "FIFTH COLUMN OF RUSSIA" IN UNITED STATES

Washington, Aug. 2.—(P)—Louis Budenz, reputed Communist, told senators today that the Communist party gets "a very big financial take" from Hollywood.

The former managing editor of the Communist Daily Worker, who quit the Communist party to become a Fordham University professor, testified in a senate expenditures subcommittee inquiry into Communist infiltrations into the government.

He described the Communist party of the United States as "a fifth column of Soviet Russia."

Flying Boat
Carrying 52
Down In Sea

Paris, Aug. 2.—(P)—Air France held out hope today for its huge flying boat which vanished in the South Atlantic early Sunday with 52 persons aboard. None was American.

"We must consider the plane missing, but not lost," a spokesman for the airline said. "The search is continuing."

Warships and planes scouted the area. The 75-ton craft was enroute from Martinique to West Africa and was 1,200 miles off Dakar

when its last signal was heard shortly after midnight Saturday.

It is believed the six-engine

Latecoere plane could remain afloat for several days in a moderate sea. The company speculated that the plane had sent no radio message since it went down.

The craft last reported flying weather good and everything going well.

Air France, the owners, said the list of 40 passengers would be withheld until the plane is found or declared lost officially. The other 12 aboard were crew members. Most passengers were Europeans.

The Latecoere has a 175-foot wing spread and is 132 feet long.

A plane of the same type crashed off the coast of Venezuela, two years ago when a propeller broke from its shaft and sliced the fuselage in two. Another dove into the sea off Le Havre last winter, probably because of faulty de-icing equip-

Air France, owners of the Latecoere 631, had no confirmation of reports that an SOS had been picked up from the plane by Azores radio stations.

The gigantic flying boat—the largest type of commercial plane built in France—was en route from

Fort De France, Martinique, to

Port Etienne, Mauritania, French

West Africa.

The company said the plane was built to withstand a forced landing at sea. It speculated that radio failure explained the lack of word from the crew. The plane was carrying 40 passengers and 12

crew members.

The plane was of the same type involved in a crash off the Normandy coast in February that killed

19 persons. It has a cruising range of 2,821 miles and a cruising speed of about 182 miles an hour.

If all aboard were lost, the crash would be among the worst in civil aviation history. An air crash at Port Deposit, Md., on May 30, 1947, claimed 53 lives, as did two others in Colombia in 1938 and 1947.

Truman In Missouri to Vote,
Will Hurry Back to Capital

Independence, Mo., Aug. 2.—(P)—A close associate said today that President Truman has no intention of calling congress back for a second extra session.

This official, who declined to be quoted by name, said the president will pin his hopes for election on his differences with the Republican leadership over price control, housing and other domestic issues.

He said Mr. Truman is not likely to send any further message to the present extra session. It assembled at his call last Monday apparently determined to deny him virtually every request. It is leaders said his motive was "political."

He first announced his intention to re-call the legislators back in a speech to the Democratic national convention at Philadelphia accepting the party's nomination.

Mr. Truman, who flew here to vote in Missouri's primary election tomorrow, will fly back to Washington immediately after casting his ballot in the memorial building near his Delaware street

His explanation: "I've got a congress on my hands."

Members of the president's party said he is convinced that congress will turn down his program, and that a second call would add nothing to the record on which he will base his stump campaign this fall.

Mr. Truman announced he will leave here at about ten a. m. tomorrow immediately after his vote. The White House previously had said he might remain until

Wednesday or Thursday.

Richland County Gets Daniels Trial

Richland County Sheriff Frank E. Robinson, left and Van Wert County Sheriff E. Roy Shaffer, swing closed the cell door on Robert Muri Daniels, right, after the confessed killer was given over to Richland County for trial. In an isolated cell, under 24-hour guard, with elaborate precautions taken against suicide, Daniels is held for the murders of Ohio Reformatory Farm Superintendent John Niebel, his wife Nollanda and daughter Phyllis. They were three of the six people Daniels and John West (killed during capture) are said to have slain in two weeks.

Filibuster Plugs Along In Second Week Of Congress

Washington, Aug. 2.—(P)—The special session of congress limped into its second week today with no anti-inflation legislation clearly in sight and the civil rights filibuster plugging along.

Their crowds stolen by a double-barreled hunt for Communists in the government, the two houses still awaited final agreement by Republican leaders on a cost of living program which won't include the price controls or rationing power President Truman asked.

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) tried meanwhile to stir the GOP leadership into action on housing. No. 2 on Mr. Truman's listing, in his call for the "turnip day" session.

McCarthy wrote Senator Taft (R-Ohio), House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) and others suggesting a conference to work out a compromise for the Taft-Bellender-Wagner bill passed by the Senate but stuck in House committee.

The Wisconsin senator predicted a bill could be drafted which would (1) channel scarce building materials into low cost homes, (2) give tax depreciation incentive for building such homes, (3) standardize building codes, (4) give veterans' cooperative expert assistance as well as loans, (5) broaden the market for FHA and veterans' loans and (6) built some slum clearance housing.

The committee called Paul Porter, former OPA administrator, before it today to explain the program. Thomas B. McCabe, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, had the same job before the House committee.

The Republicans got ready for formal moves in the Senate against a southern Democratic filibuster which has tied up a bill to ban state poll taxes in federal elections.

The three diplomats had been talking to open the way for broader conferences on east-west differences in Germany and all Europe.

Moscow dispatches indicated there will be no new developments in the western powers approach to Russia until early next week.

The fact that Molotov returned Saturday and arranged promptly to receive these western representatives was taken in London as a sign that the Russians are ready to talk.

In Berlin, however, the Russians talked to their official press with extension of the blockade into winter unless the elected city government yields to Communist demands for economic control over the entire city.

Indicated that accounts held in banks in the Russian sector by western Berlin businesses and industries, frozen during the recent currency exchange, might never be released except at the pleasure of the Communist rule over the city.

The Socialist press called the move "a money blockade."

Italy's Communists HAVE A NEW LEADER

Rome, Aug. 2.—(P)—Senator Pietro Secchia and Deputy Luigi Longo took over the leadership of Italy's Communist party today.

The regular leader, Palmiro Togliatti, announced yesterday his retirement from politics until he recovers from wounds suffered at the hands of a would-be assassin. Togliatti left the hospital Saturday.

Both Secchia and Longo are known as firebrands. They called the 36-hour general strike of July 15-16 in violent protest against the attempt on Togliatti's life by a Sicilian student. More than 20 persons were killed and seven hundred wounded in that strike.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN
Wilkes-Barre, Aug. 2.—(P)—A large barn on the Goodrich farm in nearby Dallas township was destroyed by fire last night as flames spread to other buildings. All cattle were removed from the burning barn but a quantity of hay was lost. The farm, owned by Col. Dorrance Reynolds, is noted for its prize cattle.

FIRE TRUCK TOO LARGE
Harmony, Aug. 2.—(P)—Firemen of this western Pennsylvania town laboriously raised $17,000 and waited two years for their big new fire truck to be delivered. Finally it arrived—and proved eight inches higher than the firehouse entrance. Now the 500 untrained volunteers are digging up money for a new firehouse.

CHURCHMAN DIES
Philadelphia, Aug. 2.—(P)—Dr. George Woodward Lamb, prominent in Protestant Episcopal Church affairs during his more than 50 years as a minister, died Saturday at the home of a daughter in Bristol, after a prolonged illness. He was 85. Although he had officially retired in 1937, he continued to hold until his death the office of secretary of the Historical Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America.

WHEAT CROP IN PA.
WAY BELOW ESTIMATE

Harrisburg, Aug. 2.—(P)—Current wheat crop losses may cost Pennsylvania farmers as much as $16,000,000 this year, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The Department's production and marketing administration estimated in a weekend letter to county agricultural conservation committees that wheat stem rust the Hessian fly is taking a toll of as much as 50 per cent of the crop in southeastern Pennsylvania alone.

That area, the agency said, grows about 75 per cent of Pennsylvania's wheat crop.

FRED WARING BEREAVED
Shawnee-on-Delaware, Aug. 2.—(P)—Mrs. Jessie Calderwood Waring, mother of Orchestra Leader Fred Waring, died yesterday at the age of 74. She was the widow of Frank Malcolm Waring, banker of Tyrone. Fred and his brother, Tom, began their musical careers at Tyrone. The Waring band is playing here now.

EXPLORATORY TALKS

Moscow, Aug. 2.—(P)—Ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France prepared this afternoon to visit the Kremlin tonight.

London, Aug. 2.—(P)—Three London newspapers reported today that American, French and British envoys in Moscow will see Prime Minister Stalin tonight to discuss the east-west dispute over Berlin.

The London Star said the discussion will deal with other international affairs in addition to the Berlin crisis.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin indicated in the House of Commons last week that this line will be taken in the negotiations.

"The object of diplomatic steps now being taken," he said, "is to clarify our position."

Bevin said the western Allies want to "ascertain" if there could be hope for a settlement that "may lead to peace and security in Europe for all."

American and British officials here were silent on developments in the Russian capital.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—(P)—Western diplomats were reported striving today for a meeting with Prime Minister Stalin on the Berlin crisis and hints that the Russians are ready to talk business.

A Soviet diplomatic source in London said American, British and French diplomats asked to see Stalin when they met with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in Moscow Saturday night.

U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith and Frank Roberts, special British envoy called on Molotov separately to present proposals for work out at diplomatic conferences in London for ending the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

French sources in Moscow indicated that Yves Chataigneau, the French ambassador, also called on Molotov, who returned to the Soviet capital Saturday from a vacation.

The three diplomats had been talking to open the way for broader conferences on east-west differences in Germany and all Europe.

Kansan Robbed

Although Joe Medley, 80, is on relief, he had $1340 in his pocket, he told Wichita, Kan., police. He said "someone" held him under a blanket and took the money. He here displays the torn pocket as he tells news-men he is afraid now that he'd lose his relief benefits.

The blaze was discovered by Mrs. Pelton, wife of the mill manager, who said she was awakened about 4 a. m. by a muffled explosion. It is believed that the yeggs drilled the safe and that the flash from the explosive charge ignited furnishings in the office on the first floor of the building.

The fire spread rapidly throughout the two-story frame structure, and it was beyond saving when Sugar Grove firemen first appeared on the scene. They were joined later by firefighters from Columbus and Panama. A large number of Bear Lake residents also aided firemen in preventing the fire from spreading to the nearby structures.

Stuart Scott, Jr., Sugar Grove fire chief and district deputy fire marshal, said the firemen were hampered by a lack of water. Virtually the only water supply available was that contained in the 900-gallon tank mounted on the newly-acquired Sugar Grove fire truck. The blaze was the first major test for the new equipment.

The fire apparently frightened away the intruders before they could rifle the safe. The blast had split open the door, but all of the $1800 reported in the safe was recovered with exception of a dollop contact with him.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $24,000
RESULTS FROM AN ATTEMPTED
ROBBERY AT G. L. F. PLANT

Fire, believed to have started when yeggs attempted to blow open an office safe, completely destroyed the GLF feed mill and damaged the W. N. Weaver home at Bear Lake early this morning. Loss was estimated at more than $24,000. No one was hurt.

Volunteer firemen from Sugar Grove, Columbus and Panama, N. Y., were unable to save the feed mill, but concentrated their efforts on saving the Weaver home, a nearby storehouse and the home of the mill manager, Harold Pelton. The latter two structures were undamaged.

The roaring flames burned through nearby telephone cables, knocking out phone service in the Bear Lake area, and also damaged the telegraph system of the Erie railroad which passed close by the mill.

Trains operating between Meadville and Salamanca, N. Y., were re-routed by the way of Lottsville until the telegraph system could be placed back in operation.

Sheriff L. S. Linder and State Police of the Warren substation were making a thorough check of the Bear Lake area in an effort to unearth clues to the identity of the safecrackers.

Quaker City Has Water Main Break

Philadelphia, Aug. 2.—(P)—Two 12-inch mains today were supplying water to northeast Philadelphia where the break of a 16-inch feeder main caused a 14 hour shutdown.

Squads of water bureau workmen, police and firemen traced down the break in the feeder main yesterday after an estimated 3,000,000 gallons of water had been let loose into Pennsylvania creek.

The trouble was quickly isolated to a 500-foot section of main paralleling Roosevelt near Red Lion road.

Until then Philadelphia experienced what officials said was one of the most serious water emergencies in recent years. Water company officials said the auxiliary main would be used until repairs to the feeder line could be made, probably sometime today.

Guard Ready to Move In If Dayton Plant Is Reopened

Dayton, O., Aug. 2.—(P)—The Ohio National Guard will march in to maintain order if the Univis Lens Company wishes to reopen its strike-bound plant, Mayor Louis Lohrey announced today.

He said Gov. Thomas J. Herbert had promised to send in the guard should the company, plagued with violence, try to reopen tomorrow.

The management will decide late today whether to attempt it. The company refused to resume operations today when a tentative agreement to end the 90-day strike fell through.

Rank-and-file members of the CIO United Electrical Workers rejected a settlement agreement reached by their leaders and company officials.

As they threw up another heavy picket line at the plant, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert expressed "complete disappointment" and declared he would send in the national guard if fighting broke out again.

Despite an injunction limiting pickets to approximately 200 at the plant entrance, the assembly at the plant entrance. All but six dispersed, however, when non-striking workers heeded a company appeal and did not appear.

The union appealed to other unions to send pickets to the plant tomorrow in event the company should seek to resume operations.

The agreement of the UE leaders and the company to end the 90-day strike was rejected by members of Local 768 six hours after it was signed. The vote of rejection was announced as unanimous.

Arthur L. Garfield, international UE representative who promised that the rank-and-file would ratify the proposed settlement, said later he would ask Mayor Louis Lohrey to arrange another conference with the management.

16 Japanese Go On Trial For Massacre

Yokohama, Aug. 2.—(P)—Charged with murdering 128 Americans, 16 Japanese went on trial today before a U. S. Eighth Army military commission. The group, accused in the wartime "Palawan Massacre," includes two former lieutenant generals.

Allied headquarters prosecutors called the massacre in the southern Philippines Dec. 14, 1944, "one of the most heinous crimes ever committed in the minds of so-called civilized men."

This is the story of the massacre as told by American investigators: The Japanese took 150 American soldiers, sailors and marines, who were captured at Corregidor and Bataan, to Palawan to build an airfield. American bombers began attacking the strip. Shortly thereafter, American troops landed on Leyte.

The Republicans got ready for formal moves in the Senate against a southern Democratic filibuster which has tied up a bill to ban state poll taxes in federal elections.

The three diplomats had been briefed to conduct exploratory talks to open the way for broader conferences on east-west differences in Germany and all Europe.

Moscow dispatches indicated there will be no new developments in the western powers approach to Russia until early next week.

The fact that Molotov returned Saturday and arranged promptly to receive these western representatives was taken in London as a sign that the Russians are ready to talk.

In Berlin, however, the Russians: 1. Threatened western Berliners through their official press with extension of the blockade into winter unless the elected city government yields to Communist demands for economic control over the entire city.

2. Indicated that accounts held in banks in the Russian sector by western Berlin businesses and industries, frozen during the recent currency exchange, might never be released except at the pleasure of the Communist-ruled economic commission. The Socialist press called the move "a money blockade."

Harrisburg, Aug. 2.—(P)—Current wheat crop losses may cost Pennsylvania farmers as much as $16,000,000 this year, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The Department's production and marketing administration estimated in a weekend letter to county agricultural conservation committees that wheat stem rust the Hessian fly is taking a toll of as much as 50 per cent of the crop in southeastern Pennsylvania alone.

That area, the agency said, grows about 75 per cent of Pennsylvania's wheat crop.

London Newspapers Report U. S., French and British Envoys Will See Red Premier Tonight

EXPLORATORY TALKS

BULLETIN Moscow, Aug. 2.—(P)—Ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France prepared this afternoon to visit the Kremlin tonight.

London, Aug. 2.—(P)—Three London newspapers reported today that American, French and British envoys in Moscow will see Prime Minister Stalin tonight to discuss the east-west dispute over Berlin.

The London Star said the discussion will deal with other international affairs in addition to the Berlin crisis.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin indicated in the House of Commons last week that this line will be taken in the negotiations.

"The object of diplomatic steps now being taken," he said, "is to clarify our position."

Bevin said the western Allies want to "ascertain" if there could be hope for a settlement that "may lead to peace and security in Europe for us all."

American and British officials here were silent on developments in the Russian capital.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—(P)—Western diplomats were reported striving today for a meeting with Prime Minister Stalin on the Berlin crisis as hints that the Russians are ready to talk business.

A well informed diplomatic source in London said American, British and French diplomats asked to see Stalin when they met with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in Moscow Saturday night.

U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith and Frank Roberts, special British envoy called on Molotov separately to present proposals worked out at diplomatic conferences in London for ending the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

French sources in Moscow indicated that Yves Chataigneau, the French ambassador, also called on Molotov separately to present proposals worked out at diplomatic conferences in London for ending the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

Kansan Robbed

Although Joe Medley, 80, is on relief, he had $1340 in his pocket, he told Wichita, Kan., police. He said "someone" held him under a blanket and took the money. He here displays the torn pocket as he tells news-men he is afraid now that he'd lose his relief benefits.

Dewey Grapevine Hinted at Capital

Washington, Aug. 2.—(P)—G. O. P. Presidential Candidate Thomas E. Dewey may be keeping hands off the special session of congress personally, but an effective "grapevine" has been set up in his behalf.

The "grapevine," Republican congressional leaders said today, is Herbert Brownell, Jr., the New York governor's campaign manager.

And an appropriate slogan, they added jokingly, would be:

"Don't make a move without seeing Herb."

Brownell has set up headquarters in Washington for the Dewey campaign, and party leaders on Capitol Hill have been in frequent contact with him.

Yank Army Sergeant Wins Coveted Track Championship

Olympic Stadium, Wembley, England, Aug. 2.—(P)—May Whitfield, American army master sergeant, showed his heels to the world's fastest 800 meter men today to win one of the most coveted track championships of the Olympic games for the United States.

The Little Ohio State runner with the massive legs drew the pole position, lagged in third place through the first lap, took the lead at the halfway point and fought off the challenge of six-foot, four-inch Arthur Wint of Jamaica to win by three yards.

Mel Patton, Barney Ewell and Cliff Bourland won their preliminary heats in the 200 meter dash at the Olympic track and field games today but two of the three Americans in the discuss throw failed to reach the finals.

Early yesterday Erma Mae Garbauer, 8, of Rochester township was killed by a car as she waited to board her family's truck for home after attending a barn dance.

Oscar Leidich, 28, Lebanon, was killed Sunday when his motorcycle crashed into the rear of a truck while rounding a curve near Lebanon. James Achenbach, 28, and Arlene Hainley, 22, both of Lebanon, riding another motorcycle, were injured when their vehicle sideswiped the truck.

Patton, University of Southern California speedster who was a disappointing fifth in the 100 meter final, started his comeback by taking one of the 200 meter heats in 21.5 seconds.

Two men from each heat qualified for the second time, scheduled later in the day. Qualifying heats in the 10,000 meter walk, originally set for today, were postponed until tomorrow morning.

McKenley ran away with his heat although he is recovering from a strained groin muscle. It was the first appearance of the world quarter-mile record holder on the Olympic track. He had not decided until today whether to run the shorter distance.

A light rain started falling on the sellout crowd of some 84,000 shortly after 3 P. M. (9 a. m. EST) but most of the fans stayed in their seats, raising umbrellas or putting coats over their heads.

CIGARETTES HIKED IN VENDING MACHINES

Pittsburgh, Aug. 2.—(P)—Cigarettes purchased in vending machines throughout western Pennsylvania are going to cost 23 cents a pack, industry spokesmen said yesterday.

The three-cent price rise announcement followed a meeting of the Cigarette Vending Machine Operators of Western Pennsylvania and the Cigarette Merchandising Association. A spokesman said the action follows price boosts by cigarette and match manufacturers.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $24,000 RESULTS FROM AN ATTEMPTED ROBBERY AT G. L. F. PLANT

Fire, believed to have started when yeggs attempted to blow open an office safe, completely destroyed the GLF feed mill and damaged the W. N. Weaver home at Bear Lake early this morning. Loss was estimated at more than $24,000. No one was hurt.

Volunteer firemen from Sugar Grove, Columbus and Panama, N. Y., were unable to save the feed mill, but concentrated their efforts on saving the Weaver home, a nearby storehouse and the home of the mill manager, Harold Pelton. The latter two structures were undamaged.

The roaring flames burned through nearby telephone cables, knocking out phone service in the Bear Lake area, and also damaged the telegraph system of the Erie railroad which passed close by the mill.

Trains operating between Meadville and Salamanca, N. Y., were re-routed by the way of Lottsville until the telegraph system could be placed back in operation.

Sheriff L. E. Linder and State Police of the Warren substation were making a thorough check of the Bear Lake area in an effort to unearth clues to the identity of the safecrackers.

The blaze was discovered by Mrs. Pelton, wife of the mill manager, who said she was awakened about 4 a. m. by a muffled explosion. It is believed that the yeggs drilled the safe and that the flash from the explosive charge ignited furnishings in the office on the first floor of the building.

The fire spread rapidly through the two-story frame structure, and it was beyond saving when Sugar Grove firemen first appeared on the scene. They were joined later by firefighters from Columbus and Panama. A large number of Bear Lake residents also aided firemen in preventing the fire from spreading to the nearby structures.

Stuart Scott, Jr., Sugar Grove fire chief and district deputy fire marshal, said the firemen were hampered by a lack of water. Virtually the only water supply available was that contained in the 800-gallon tank mounted on the newly-acquired Sugar Grove fire truck. The blaze was the first major test for the new equipment.

The fire apparently frightened away the intruders before they could rifle the safe. The blast had split open the door, but all of the $1800 reported in the safe was recovered with exception of a dol-sin.

Louis Moglia, the farm owner, arrived at 5 a. m. and heard his tenants screaming in the corn crib. He released them, and Mrs. Magliocco was treated by a physician.

State police launched a search for the two men, described by the Magliocco's as negroes. Police said they had meagre descriptions because the room was kept dark through the incident.

NIGHT CLUB NEAR BUTLER BURNS DOWN

Butler, Aug. 2.—(P)—Damage estimated by firemen at $50,000 resulted from a fire which destroyed the Bona Vista night club yesterday.

Firemen, who were forced to lay hose more than a half mile to combat the blaze, said they did not believe anyone was in the three-story frame building when the flames broke out. They launched an investigation into cause of the fire, reportedly preceded by an explosion.

Nearby residents who said they heard the explosion called firemen but the building was a mass of flames when they arrived. The night club, which had hotel accommodations, was owned by Nick Fretto. He and members of his family had left the building about an hour before the fire broke out.

A similar explosion and fire damaged the Park Casino, a night club, on Grand Boulevard in Montebello last night. Firemen estimated damage at $10,000.

The blaze began with an explosion in a washroom. It blew out a wall between the washroom and the kitchen.

Body of Warren Soldier Is Arriving Wednesday Morning

Mrs. Josephine N. Wozneak, 509 Beech street, has received notification over the weekend that the body of her son, Pvt. Joseph Gabriel Wozneak, who was killed in action in the Rome-Arno campaign, will arrive Wednesday morning from the Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot for final rites and reinterment.

Pvt. Wozneak was born in Warren on August 3, 1924, and spent his entire lifetime here prior to his entering the army. He attended St. Joseph's parochial school, Beaty Junior High school, and was the first member of the graduating class of 1944 of Warren High school to give his life for his country.

Following his induction into the army here on September 20, 1943, he received 7 weeks of basic training at Camp Blanding, Fla. He left the United States for foreign service on February 23, 1944, as a member of a replacement organization and arrived in North Africa on March 3, 1944.

He was moved to Italy on March 14 of the same year and was transferred from the replacement outfit to Company D, 7th Infantry regiment, 3rd Infantry Division, on April 25, 1944, serving with that unit until he was killed in action June 1, 1944, near Latina, Italy, during the Rome-Arno campaign. He has been temporarily buried in the United States Military Cemetery at Nettuno, Italy.

Besides his mother, he leaves three brothers and two sisters: Stephen, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. Frances Scudlark, Webster, N. Y.; Miss Mary, Theodore and Edmund Wozneak, all of Warren.

His father, Matthew John Wozneak, a veteran of World War I, preceded him in death on January 13, 1941.

Removal will be made to the Leo D. Gibson Funeral Home, where friends may call to pay their respects during the usual visiting hours, starting at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Friends are asked to kindly omit flowers.

Services in his memory will be held from the funeral home at 10 a. m. Thursday. Officiating will be Father Alfred Bauer, pastor of St. Joseph's church, where he was a lifelong member and which he served as an altar boy for many years. Interment will follow in St. Joseph's cemetery.

AFTER THE WEDDING CAKE . . . A WELL-APPOINTED HOME

Nothing could be more fitting, or a more practical gift, than to start your bride off with modern appliances that minimize the drudgery of housework.

She deserves and should have an electric refrigerator, washing machine, vacuum cleaner, range, iron, toaster, food mixer, with possibly a home freezer, ironer and dishwasher to boot.

We say "and should have" because we are ready to advance you the cash for these purchases and give you a loan to repay out of income. One loan will cover all.

This offer is open to everyone, whether his wedding cake is to be cut this year, or is a fond memory of tea or forty years ago. Your "bride" still deserves a break.

Newell Press Employees And Families Enjoy Fine Outing

Over 125 employees, their families and a few invited guests attended the Newell Press picnic held Thursday afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olson, beautifully situated at Starbuck, along the Allegheny river. Ideal weather combined with the elaborate preparations made by hard-working committees served to make it one of the most delightful events of its kind in the area this season.

During the afternoon and early evening there were contests for young and old, providing much amusement and entertainment for contestants as well as for those not participating. These included baseball, croquet, badminton, volleyball, horse shoe pitching and driving contests.

Winners in the ladies' events were: Mushball toss in keg, Mrs. Latimer; horseshoe ring toss, Mrs. Mary Hoffman; spit ball throw, Mrs. Brown; golf driving contest, Frances Johnson; rolling pin throw, Joan Carlson. Each of the above received a beautiful box of stationery donated by Clarence Briggs of the Alling and Corry Paper Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Winners in the contests for boys and girls were: Bag race, Bobby Olson; suit race, Bobby Olson; Ju-yard dash, Dick Latimer; croquet, while contest, Myrtle Carter; wheelbarrow race, John Ryberg; and Dick Latimer; foot and hand race, Frances Hoffman; boys' 30-yard dash, Dick Latimer; girls' 30-yard dash, Joan Hoffman.

In the mushball game, the Sherman Lions defeated the Larson Lugs by a score of 8 to 3. Red Sherman started for the Lions and had the Lugs eating out of his paw. Mellander pitched for the Lugs. Leo Ward pitched the last inning for the Lions.

Throughout the afternoon and evening pop corn, potato chips, peanuts, pop and watermelon were available at all times.

Highlights of the event were the picnic dinner at six o'clock and a cold turkey lunch at dusk. Featured on the dinner menu was corn on the cob, provided by the committee with the assistance of Leo Ward, proprietor of the Newell Press, and Mrs. Ward. The dinner, prepared by the South Side Market, consisted of baked ham, scalloped or creamed potatoes,

Spanish War Veterans To Have Reunion

Several from Warren are planning to attend the reunion and picnic of the 15th and 16th Regiments, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, that participated in the Spanish-American War in 1898, to be held at Memorial Park, Grove City, August 7.

According to Harry Shawkey, there are only about ten survivors of Warren's Company I, that left here in April, 1898, and most of these reside out of town. Mr. Shawkey and Jack Dailey are two still residing here.

Leaving here in April, 1898, under command of the late Dr. F. A. Wheelock, with Louis Clark as first lieutenant, the unit went to St. Helena where it was sworn into service. When these it was shipped to Chathamanga Park, Cal., for training, going later to Charleston, S. C. from which port it embarked July 9, 1898 for Porto Rico, in Transport 21, which is described as having been a British "cattle steamer".

The local Company took an outstanding and commendable part in the Battle of Cosmo August 8, 1898. It remained on the Island October 6 of that year when it embarked for New York. After landing in the states the unit was mustered out December 28th.

Homicide In Carey Hotel at Chautauqua

Chautauqua, N. Y.—A trivial argument over the serving of a dinner "luncheon" sign in the kitchen of the Carey Hotel here led to the first homicide in this resort village's 70-year history.

The dead man was identified as Elton Cook, 36, of Winterhaven, Fla. He was employed as assistant cook at the hotel.

His assailant was identified as Samuel Rover, 22, of St. Petersburg, Fla. Rover served as an auxiliary aid in the hotel kitchen.

According to Chautauque county Sheriff Clarence D. Bell, an argument started between the two men around 8:15 p. m. when one blamed the other for serving a dinner with two vegetables when only one had been ordered.

Sheriff Bell said Cook began beating Rover about the head with a dinner fork. Rover seized behind and grabbed a bread knife. He thrust once with the knife, cutting laterally through Cook's abdomen. Cook died to death within five minutes.

The knife, according to Dr. Garra L. Lester, local physician, who examined the victim shortly after his death, severed the principal artery of the abdomen.

Rover was taken into custody immediately and sent to the county jail at Mayville.

At his arraignment there early Friday morning before Peace Justice A. Roy Perkins, Rover was charged with first degree manslaughter.

He waived an examination and was ordered held in the county jail for action by the grand jury when that body reconvenes on August 30.

The other employees of the hotel who witnessed the slaying are being held in the Mayville jail as material witnesses.

They are Aaron Richardson, 41, and Lucus Barrows, 23, both of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Nothing could be more fitting, or a more practical expression of affection, than to start your bride off with modern appliances that minimize the drudgery of housework.

She deserves and should have an electric refrigerator, washing machine, vacuum cleaner, range, iron, toaster, food mixer, with possibly a home freezer, ironer and dishwasher to boot.

We say "and should have" because we are ready to advance you the cash for these purchases and give you a long time to repay out of income. One loan will cover all.

This offer is open to everyone, whether his wedding cake is to be cut this year, or is a fond memory of ten or forty years ago. Your "bride" still deserves a break.

A Man Felt Like His Bones Were Broken, Due To Rheumatism
One man recently stated that for years he felt like the bones in his legs were broken. This was due to muscular rheumatism. His muscles were swollen and his legs so stiff and sore that he couldn't walk without limping. He was in misery. Recently he started taking TRU-AID and says the feeling like his bones were broken disappeared the second day. The swelling and stiffness has gone from his muscles; now he can walk without suffering and says he feels like a new man.

TRU-AID contains Three Great Medical Ingredients which go right to the very source of rheumatic and neuritic aches and pains. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get TRU-AID. Sold by All Drug Stores here in Warren. —adv.

Newell Press Employees And Families Enjoy Fine Outing

Over 125 employees, their families and a few invited guests attended the Newell Press picnic held Thursday afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olson, beautifully situated at Starbrick, along the Allegheny river. Ideal weather combined with the elaborate preparations made by hard-working committees served to make it one of the most delightful events of its kind in the area this season.

During the afternoon and early evening there were contests for young and old, providing much amusement and entertainment for contestants as well as for those not participating. These included baseball, croquet, badminton, volleyball, horse shoe pitching and driving contests.

Winners in the ladies' events were: Mushball toss in keg, Mrs. Latimer; horseshoe ring toss, Mrs. Mary Hoffman; golf ball throw, Mrs. Brower; golf driving contest, Frances Johnson; rolling pin throw, Joan Carlson. Each of the above received a beautiful box of stationery donated by Clarence Briggs of the Ailing and Corry Paper Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Winners in the contests for boys and girls were: Bag race, Bobby Olson; still race, Bobby Olson; 50-yard dash, Dick Latimer; cracker whistle contest, Myrtle Carter; wheelbarrow race, John Ryberg and Dick Latimer; feet and hand race, Ronnie Hoffman; boys' 30-yard dash, Dick Latimer; girls' 30-yard dash, Joan Hoffman.

In the mushball game, the Sherman Lions defeated the Larson Lugs by a score of 8 to 3. Red Sherman started for the Lions and had the Lugs eating out of his hand. Mellander pitched for the Lugs. Leo Ward pitched the last inning for the Lions.

Throughout the afternoon and evening pop corn, potato chips, peanuts, pop and watermelon were available at all times. Highlights of the event were the picnic dinner at six o'clock and a cold turkey lunch at dusk. Featured on the dinner menu was corn on the cob, provided by the committee with the assistance of Leo Ward, proprietor of the Newell Press, and Mrs. Ward. The dinner, prepared by the South Side Market, consisted of baked ham, scalloped or creamed potatoes, buttered peas, pickles, celery, olives, rolls, apple pie and cheese, and coffee.

Special awards were distributed to employees during the after-dinner program, through the courtesy of Mr. Ward. Winners were: Mrs. Emmet Ecklund, Mrs. Robert Carlson, Andrew McComas, Mrs. Leonard Whiteshot, Elmer Mellander, Robert Brower, all of whom received gift certificates entitling them to $10.00 worth of merchandise in some leading Warren store. Mrs. Frank Gagnan was awarded a box of stationery and R. F. Bessey and J. Don Scallise both drew cartons of cigarettes. Following the drawings envelopes with special gifts of $2.00 each were distributed to all children present, through the thoughtfulness of Mr. Ward.

During the short program following the dinner Carl Peterson, plant superintendent, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Ward, and the few special guests present, including Ed Lowrey, of the Times-Mirror, who aided in the drawings, his wife and son, Mrs. Donald McComas, of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. George Beeman, Buffalo, N. Y. John Newell, founder and proprietor of the Newell Press for 49 years before it was sold to Mr. Ward late last year, was present with his daughter, Miss Dorothy. Mr. Newell is employed in a clerical capacity with the new company, and his presence added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Mr. Ward, after being presented by Chairman Peterson responded by thanking all for their cooperation. He mentioned particularly Mr. Mrs. Olson as host-hostess; Clifford Ryberg, chairman of the ticket committee; Chuck Dey, refreshments; Mrs. Carrie Mader, picnic dinner; Ray Lewis, Bob Carlson, Chris Pepke, Harry West for looking after the entertainment, games, contests, etc.

A rousing three cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Ward, led by Chris Pepke, brought this part of the brief after-dinner program to a close. The evening hours were spent in more games, social conversation and general all-around good time. At dusk an elaborate luncheon consisting of cold turkey, olives, celery and apple pie, was spread upon the spacious tables.

Spanish War Veterans To Have Reunion

Several from Warren are planning to attend the reunion and picnic of the 15th and 16th Regiments, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, that participated in the Spanish-American War in 1898, to be held at Memorial Park, Grove City, August 7.

According to Harry Shawkey, there are only about ten survivors of Warren's Company L that left here in April, 1898, and most of these reside out of town. Mr. Shawkey and Jack Dailey are two still residing here. Leaving here in April, 1898, under command of the late D. F. A. Wheelock, with Louis Clark as first lieutenant, the unit went to Mt. Gretna where it was sworn into service. From there it was shipped to Chickamauga Park Ga., for training, going later to Charleston, S. C., from which port it embarked July 9, 1898 for Porto Rico in the transport, which is described as having been a British "cattle steamer."

The local Company took an outstanding and commendable part in the Battle of Coamo August 8, 1898. It remained on the island October 6 of that year when it embarked for New York. After landing in the states the unit was mustered out December 28th.

NOTICE

Dr. Thompson will be out of town August 1st to August 9th. 7-1-48.

Homicide In Carey Hotel at Chautauque

Chautauque, N. Y.—A trivial argument over the serving of a dinner Thursday night in the kitchen of the Carey Hotel here led to the first homicide in this resort village's 75-year history.

The dead man was identified as Elton Cook, 36, of Winterhaven, Fla. He was employed as assistant cook at the hotel.

Sheriff Bell said Cook began beating Rover about the head with a meat fork. Rover reached behind and grabbed a bread knife. He thrust once with the knife, cutting laterally through Cook's abdomen. Cook died to death within five minutes.

The knife, according to Dr. Garra L. Lester, local physician, who examined the victim shortly after his death, severed the principal artery of the abdomen.

Rover was taken into custody immediately and sent to the county jail at Mayville.

At his arraignment there early Friday morning before Peace Justice A. Roy Perkins, Rover was charged with first degree manslaughter.

He waived an examination and was ordered held in the county jail for action by the grand jury when that body reconvenes on August 30.

The other employees of the hotel who witnessed the slaying are being held in the Mayville jail as material witnesses.

They are Aaron Richardson, 41, and Louis Burrows, 23, both of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Dr. William Bell will be out of town August 1st to August 16th. Office will be open. 8-2-48

See, He Just Won't Do It

Here's visual proof that you can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink. Little Janie Irvine, of Pass-a-Grille, Fla., led her horse to the water, but he just wouldn't drink. Probably because the horse knew it was salt water, and no self-respecting horse would drink salt water.

lar bill and a few cents. The money was damaged by fire and water, Delon said, but still could be redeemed.

Stuart said a preliminary estimate indicated total damage to the feed mill would run as high as $24,000, including $15,000 loss in inventory, $5,000 to the building, and $4,000 to office and warehouse equipment. Damage to the Weaver home was estimated at between $200 and $400.

The first chief said all of the loss to inventory and most of the damage to the building is covered by insurance.

The feed mill remained open for business today, with the staff shifting operations to the storehouse building which firemen saved. According to reports, the feed mill will be rebuilt as quickly as possible.

16 Japanese Go On Trial For Massacre

(From Page One)

In early December, the Japanese received reports an American naval task force was near Palawan. They feared an American landing, and decided to kill their prisoners so they could not divulge military information.

On Dec. 14, the Japanese sounded a false air raid alarm and herd prisoners into air raid shelters and foxholes—then the guards splashed gasoline into the shelters and threw in flaming torches and hand grenades.

American struggling to escape were shot, bayoneted or cut down with swords or machineguns.

Market Quotations

New York, Aug. 2.—(P)—The stock market showed some signs of recovery today. Many of the rails pushed narrowly ahead, and some industrials succeeded in wiping out early declines.

A few stable blocks of stock changed hands. Avco Manufacturing opened fractionally higher on a transfer of 5,000 shares. But a similar chunk of Fairworth Television and Radio reflected a drop of more than a point under Friday's close. Owens-Illinois jumped 2 on a block of 1,300 shares. Holding advances ranging to around a point were U. S. Steel, General Motors, J. I. Case, Southern Pacific, Illinois Central, Union Pacific, Standard Oil (N. J.), DuPont, Dow Chemical, Sears Roebuck, Schenley and U. S. Rubber. Backward at times were Montgomery Ward, Kennecott, Johns-Manville, U. S. Gypsum and Santa Fe.

PRICE CONTROLS ONLY "PAIN KILLERS"

The President and Congress agree that there is inflation, and that something ought to be done about it. Political commentators say Mr. Truman has put the GOP majority on the spot by demanding that Congress adopt his anti-inflation program.

The eight-point program offered to the special session is, as the President said, a slightly revamped reshuffle of the proposals he made to the regular session last year.

President Truman has seized a preferred position by offering a positive program which Congress will adopt and for which it has, as yet, offered no alternative. But to us consumers, who are more interested in the high cost of living than in political jockeying, this is not enough.

In the opinion of James Thrasher, NEA editorial writer, the fundamental reason we have inflation is because the American people have more "money" than there are goods to spend for it. "Money" means not only cash, but bank accounts, bonds, credit—anything that can be used to buy something.

There are two ways to control inflation. One is by making enough goods to balance the supply of money. The other is by reducing the supply of money to a level with that of goods.

President Truman, many labor unions and some others propose a third way. It is included in four of the President's eight points. It is to restore government control over prices, rents, rationing and allocation and inventory control of key materials.

It may be that such controls will prove desirable as stop-gap measures. Many who oppose them on principle are weakening. But it is important to recognize those controls as mere sedatives, not cures. To the extent that they work they relieve the pain, but they do nothing about what is causing the pain, and the minute you stop taking them you suffer worse than ever.

In extreme cases physicians give opiates to ease pain while the patient is dying. But this country and its economy are not dying. We may need an opiate, but if so we need it only to keep us quiet while the doctor is curing the maladjustments that are responsible for our troubles.

So there are many who feel that we must not adopt the opiates of government controls unless, at the same time, we do something about the unbalance of "money" and goods that is causing inflation.

We should not yet have forgotten the various types of black markets that made price and rationing controls of doubtful value before they were dropped after the war.

Neither should we yet have forgotten the enormous pressure of high costs and eager desires, built up under the thin crust of wartime controls, that blew up and dynamited prices to the skies the moment controls were taken off.

The non-partisan, non-political criticism of President Truman's anti-inflation program is not that it goes too far, but rather that half of it isn't even aimed at the roots of the poisonous plant, and the rest of it only strikes at a few of the smaller branches.

MONUMENT TO HEROES

Indignant Arthur Bliss Lane has started a fund to pay for an appropriate monument to the five American flyers shot down by Tito's Yugoslavs in 1946 when their plane accidentally used some of his air. Their bodies now share a common grave in Arlington National Cemetery. It is marked by a plain headstone bearing only names, ranks and date of death. That is government regulation, but Lane, who was ambassador to Yugoslavia, considers it shabby treatment. Others agree and want to have the grave marked properly. Lane has agreed to act as treasurer. His address is 2442 Massachusetts Ave., N. W., Washington.

Up at Sheffield they are planning to dedicate the Memorial Playground August 23 with appropriate ceremonies, including a program by the famed Knox band. Our neighboring community is completing a magnificent job in its Memorial Playground, and everyone connected with such a wonderful achievement is deserving of high commendation.

The fence is fast disappearing from Russell Field. For the future of baseball in Warren this field should be maintained. With two leagues functioning and others in prospect the community can make use of every available baseball diamond.

Here's a paragraph from an exchange that'll probably make you yawn: There are more yawns in the last half hour of the day than the average individual can readily explain.

The Warren Evening Times

Yesterday morning Company I completed the company landscape problem conducted by Captain Pearson. The rating which the company received was one of the highest given to any company since the origin of the problem at Mount Gretna. Captain Pearson has been receiving the congratulations of all high officers.

Art Johnson, the Warren pitcher, with the Beaumont team of the Texas league, writes that he lost eight pounds the first week in the Lone Star state.

Little Mary Edna Gasselbrecht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gasselbrecht, Walnut street, is receiving congratulations on catching a 16-inch black bass recently. The little fisherman used an ordinary brush pole and a piece of string to catch the big one.

Sheriff Harry Jefferson is preparing a war on Warren county dogs, whose owners fail to care for them as required by law. The number of complaints received by his office in the past few weeks has been astronomical to say the least.

Two persons are in the Warren General Hospital with injuries sustained about 11 o'clock last night when the coupling on a trailer being towed by a car driven by John Honhart, of this city, broke and allowed the vehicle to strike the couple as they were walking along the berm on route 3, at Clarendon.

The benefit garden party given yesterday at the Olmsted Garden in Ludlow by the entertainment committee and the Schofield committee of the Woman's Club proved a very delightful affair.

Friday morning at nine o'clock, the Community Consumer Discount Company formerly the Community Loan Company, will open for business in its new location in the quarters formerly occupied by the Citizens' National Bank.

PRICE CONTROLS ONLY "PAIN KILLERS"

The President and Congress agree that there is inflation, and that something ought to be done about it. Political commentators say Mr. Truman has put the GOP majority on the spot by demanding that Congress adopt his anti-inflation program.

The eight-point program offered to the special session is, as the President said, a slightly revamped refash of the proposals he made to the regular session last year.

President Truman has seized a preferred position by offering a positive program which Congress will adopt and for which it has, as yet, offered no alternative. But to us consumers, who are more interested in the high cost of living than in political jockeying, this is not enough.

In the opinion of James Thrasher, NEA editorial writer, the fundamental reason we have inflation is because the American people have more "money" than there are goods to spend for it. "Money" means not only cash, but bank accounts, bonds, credit—anything that can be used to buy something.

There are two ways to control inflation. One is by making enough goods to balance the supply of money. The other is by reducing the supply of money to a level with that of goods.

President Truman, many labor unions and some others propose a third way. It is included in four of the President's eight points. It is to restore government control over prices, rents, rationing and allocation and inventory control of key materials.

It may be that such controls will prove desirable as stop-gap measures. Many who oppose them on principle are weakening. But it is important to recognize those controls as mere sedatives, not cures. To the extent that they work they relieve the pain, but they do nothing about what is causing the pain, and the minute you stop taking them you suffer worse than ever.

In extreme cases physicians give opiates to ease pain while the patient is dying. But this country and its economy are not dying. We may need an opiate, but if so we need it only to keep us quiet while the doctor is curing the maladjustments that are responsible for our troubles.

So there are many who feel that we must not adopt the opiates of government controls unless, at the same time, we do something about the unbalance of "money" and goods that is causing inflation.

We should not yet have forgotten the various types of black markets that made price and rationing controls of doubtful value before they were dropped after the war.

Neither should we yet have forgotten the enormous pressure of high costs and eager desires, built up under the thin crust of wartime controls, that blew up and dynamited prices to the skies the moment controls were taken off.

The non-partisan, non-political criticism of President Truman's anti-inflation program is not that it goes too far, but rather that half of it isn't even aimed at the roots of the poisonous plant, and the rest of it only strikes at a few of the smaller branches.

MONUMENT TO HEROES

Indignant Arthur Bliss Lane has started a fund to pay for an appropriate monument to the five American flyers shot down by Tito's Yugoslavs in 1946 when their plane accidentally used some of his air. Their bodies now share a common grave in Arlington National Cemetery. It is marked by a plain headstone bearing only names, ranks and date of death. That is government regulation, but Lane, who was ambassador to Yugoslavia, considers it shabby treatment. Others agree and want to have the grave marked properly. Lane has agreed to act as treasurer. His address is 2442 Massachusetts Ave., N. W., Washington.

Up at Sheffield they are planning to dedicate the Memorial Playground August 28 with appropriate ceremonies, including a program by the famed Knox band. Our neighboring community is completing a magnificent job in its Memorial Playground, and everyone connected with such a wonderful achievement is deserving of high commendation.

The fence is fast disappearing from Russell Field. For the future of baseball in Warren this field should be maintained. With two leagues functioning and others in prospect the community can make use of every available baseball diamond.

Here's a paragraph from an exchange that'll probably make you yawn: There are more yawns in the last half hour of the day than the average individual can readily explain.

Yesterday morning Company I completed the company landscape problem conducted by Captain Pearson. The rating which the company received was one of the highest given to any company since the origin of the problem at Mount Gretna. Captain Pearson has been receiving the congratulations of all high officers.

Art Johnson, the Warren pitcher, with the Beaumont team of the Texas league, writes that he lost eight pounds the first week in the Lone Star state.

Little Mary Edna Gisselbrecht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gisselbrecht, Walnut street, is receiving congratulations on catching a 16-inch black bass recently. The little fisherman used an ordinary brush pole and a piece of string to catch the big one.

Sheriff Harry Jefferson is preparing a war on Warren county dogs, whose owners fail to care for them as required by law. The number of complaints received by his office in the past few weeks has been astronomical to say the least.

Two persons are in the Warren General Hospital with injuries sustained about 11 o'clock last night when the coupling on a trailer being towed by a car driven by John Honhart, of this city, broke and allowed the vehicle to strike the couple as they were walking along the berm on route 6, at Clarendon.

The benefit garden party given yesterday at the Olmsted Garden in Ludlow by the entertainment committee and the Schofield committee of the Woman's Club proved a very delightful affair. Friday morning at nine o'clock, the Community Consumer Discount Company formerly the Community Loan Company, will open for business in its new location in the quarters formerly occupied by the Citizens' National Bank.

VARIETY SHOWER FOR JOYCE NIELSEN

Miss Joyce Nielsen, who will be an August 14 bride, was honored guest for a variety shower given Friday evening by Mrs. Edmond Emler, 205 South street, assisted by Mrs. Axel Christensen and daughter, Miss Thalia, of Sheffield.

The evening was pleasantly spent in assembling a book for the bride-elect and with a picture album which depicted the days of childhood, school days, courtship, marriage and 50 years hence. Refreshments were served buffet style from a table attractively set in pink and white and presided over by Mrs. Christensen. Pink roses and white snapdragons were used with two small pink crepe paper umbrellas to form the centerpiece and were flanked by tall white candles in crystal holders.

Guests were Mrs. Milton Swanson, Mrs. Bert Boyd, Mrs. Russell Andrews and Miss Beverly Jones, Sheffield; Miss Margaret Wilson and Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, Clarendon; Mrs. John Egan, Cuba Lake, N. Y.; Miss Joanne Peterson, Miss Joyce Miltner, Mrs. Joseph Scallie and Mrs. Kenneth Nielsen, Warren.

SHOWER GIVEN FOR MISS MARY ROOS

Mrs. Emil Johnson and Mrs. Hugh McKelvey were hostesses for a shower given at the former's home, 115 Water street, for Miss Mary Roos, who is to become the bride of Thomas Schorman on September 18.

Prizes for bridge were awarded to Mrs. Raymond Johnson for high and to Mrs. Albert Schumann for low. In the Cootie game, awards went to Mrs. James Harrison for high score and to Mrs. Norman Smith for low. The evening was concluded with serving of an attractively appointed two course lunch and presentation of many useful gifts to the bride-elect.

JOANNE HIGHHOUSE CHOOSES WEDDING DATE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Smith, 11 Hemlock street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joanne Highhouse, to Tony Saporo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Saporo, 18 Hinkle street. Miss Highhouse has chosen August 7 as the date for her wedding.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Warren High School and is employed by the Metzger-Wright Company.

Her fiancé, a veteran of the U. S. Navy, is employed by the Struthers-Wells Corporation.

AUGUST WEDDING DATE ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kuzminski, Youngsville, wish to announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Ann, to John Kuzma, Columbus. The date is set for August 7th.

A shower was given for Miss Kuzminski at the National Forge Clubhouse at Irvine.

BARBARA TAFT TO BE OCTOBER BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taft, 20 Swiss street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Vivian, to Frank M. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Williams, 122 Walnut street.

The wedding date has been set for October 9.

News From Malaya

Methodists in this section, as well as many other friends, will read with interest a letter just received from Mrs. Carleton Foss, formerly of the Sugar Grove Methodist parish and now with her husband, Rev. Foss, as missionaries in Malacca, Malaya, and dated July 15, read as from their home at 440-A, Tranquerah road, Malaya. Excerpts from her letter, written follows: "Right now our political situation is quite serious. We do not know what the next week will bring to us but are praying that our work need not be stopped again as in 1941. The Communists are staging raids on towns and estates, killing both Asians and Europeans. We feel fairly safe here in Malacca. Because of this trouble our Religious Education Institute has had to be called off.

"I wish you could meet my twenty-four charming Malay girls who live downstairs in the hostel. They range in age from eight-year-old Rokiah to twenty-year-old Maimun. Most of them are from homes within fifty miles but three come from the north-eastern coast of Malaya, a 3-days journey by car. I have been in all but five of their homes and, oh, how I love it. Several of the girls said they were from Alor Gajah, so one afternoon I packed our new Ford with nine girls and started for their homes. The girls were terribly excited. The parents were always so glad to see us and served tea and Malay cakes and sweets at each place. You can imagine how I felt after eating in six homes that afternoon.

"At several places I was begged to open the boys' hostel again. The Gov. had closed it when they built their own. Now they can't take care of all the boys so the parents want us to reopen, and we hope to do it next year if allowed by the Gov't. Carleton is busy all week at the Boys' School, where he teaches from 8 to 1:30. Then our calling takes many afternoons and the mission business takes the rest. We love it here and feel so much at home. The children are quite well and are adjusted to the change.

A week from Sunday we are having a union service for our four Methodist congregations here in Malacca—Tamil, Chinese, Malay-speaking Chinese and English. It will be the first of its kind here and we pray that God will pour out His blessings upon us."

VARIETY SHOWER FOR JOYCE NIELSEN

Miss Joyce Nielsen, who will be an August 14 bride, was honored guest for a variety shower given Friday evening by Mrs. Edmond Elmer, 205 South street, assisted by Mrs. Axel Christenson and daughter, Miss Thalia, of Sheffield.

The evening was pleasantly spent in assembling a book for the bride-elect with a picture album which depicted the days of childhood, schooldays, courtship, marriage and 50 years hence. Refreshments were served buffet style from a table attractively set in pink and white and presided over by Mrs. Christenson. Pink roses and white snapdragons were used with two small pink crepe paper umbrellas to form the centerpiece and were flanked by tall white candles in crystal holders.

Guests were Mrs. Milton Swanson, Mrs. Bert Boyd, Mrs. Russell Andrews and Miss Beverly Jones, Sheffield; Miss Margaret Wilson and Miss Dorothy Johnson, Clarion; Mrs. John Egan, Cuba Lake, N. Y.; Miss Joanne Peterson, Miss Joyce Miltzer, Mrs. Joseph Scallie and Mrs. Kenneth Nielsen, Warren.

SHOWER GIVEN FOR MISS MARY ROOS

Mrs. Emil Johnson and Mrs. Hugh McKelvey were hostesses for a kitchen shower given at the former's home, 115 Water street, for Miss Mary Roos, who is to become the bride of Thomas Schorman on September 18.

Prizes for bridge were awarded to Mrs. Raymond Johnson for high and to Mrs. Albert Schumann for low. In the Cootie game, awards went to Mrs. James Torrance for high score and to Mrs. Norman Smith for low. The evening was concluded with serving of an attractively appointed two course lunch and presentation of many useful gifts to the bride-elect.

JOANNE HIGHHOUSE CHOOSES WEDDING DATE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Smith, 11 Hemlock street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joanne Highhouse, to Tony Saporo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Saporo, 18 Hinkle street. Miss Highhouse has chosen August 7 as the date for her wedding.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Warren High School and is employed by the Metzger-Wright Company.

Her fiancé, a veteran of the U. S. Navy, is employed by the Struthers-Wells Corporation.

AUGUST WEDDING DATE ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kuzminski, Youngville, wish to announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Ann, to John Kuzma, Columbus. The date is set for August 7th.

A shower was given for Miss Kuzminski at the National Forge Clubhouse at Irvine.

BARBARA TAFT TO BE OCTOBER BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taft, 20 Swiss street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Vivian, to Frank M. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Williams, 122 Walnut street.

The wedding date has been set for October 9.

Cards to Hold Baseball Try-out School Here

Pop Kelchner and Joe Cusick to Check Diamond Prospects

The St. Louis Cardinals, always big contenders for pennant honors in the National League race, are announcing they will give young players in the district a chance to show their stuff in the Red Birds' conduct a try-out camp at the State penitentiary grounds, North Warren, Pa., on Wednesday, August 17 and 18.

The camp, made possible through the cooperation of the U. S. Penitentiary at North Warren, will be one of more than 80 scheduled for the Cardinals this summer. It will be free to all players in this area who feel they have what it takes to become professional baseball players.

Pop Kelchner and Joe Cusick, veteran Cardinals scouts, will be in charge of the camp. They will watch the players as they go through their paces, offering minor league contracts to those who are judged to be worthy.

But Eight Percentage Points Separate Four Teams In Red Hot American League Race

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
An ordinary three-cent postage stamp can cover the first four teams in the closest four-team pennant race in the American League has enjoyed in its 48 years of operation. Only eight percentage points separate the first four teams.

Here is the picture as it appears today. The Philadelphia Athletics are back in first place, but are only eight points ahead of the fourth place Boston Red Sox. In between are the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees.

Connie Mack's A's, in second place after Saturday's games, jumped into first by defeating the Tigers in Detroit 4-2 yesterday. The Indians advanced from third to second by sweeping a doubleheader from the Red Sox 12-2 and 6-1. The double defeat dropped Joe McCarthy's Red Sox from first all the way down to fourth. The Yankees moved up from fourth to third by vanquishing the Chicago White Sox twice, 8-2 and 7-5.

Phil Marchiondi, the Canadian right-hander, gained the honor of boosting the grab-bag Athletics to the top Sunday. He limited the Tigers to five hits for his eighth victory, but had to have help in the ninth from Charlie Harris when he walked three men and hit another to force in a run.

Ferris Fain, draft-purchased first baseman, led the 18-hit A's attack against Dizzy Trout with a two-run homer and three singles. Fain drove in three runs and scored two himself. It was Trout's 11th loss against 10 victories.

Bob Lemon and Sammy Zoladak held the hard-hitting Red Sox to three runs and 15 hits in making a force in a row over Ted Williams and company. A Cleveland crowd of 70,762 saw the Tribe get a route-going affair for the first time since July 15 when Lemon limited the Sox to six hits in the opener. It was no-hit Bob's 14th triumph of the year. Zoladak permitted seven hits for his sixth triumph. A ninth inning home run by Ted Williams spoiled his shutout bid.

Lemon and Larry Doby smashed home runs for the opener for the Indians and Joe Gordon and Alie Clark did likewise in the nightcap. Vic Raschi and Sotthpav Tommy Byrne pitched the Yankee victories. Raschi allowed the White Sox only six hits in the first game, and batted in three runs to win his 10th game. Joe DiMaggio helped with his 24th home run. Byrne was ahead 7-1 in the ninth of the nightcap when he gave up a single and walked three men in succession before he was relieved by Frank Miller. Miller was nicked for two hits and three runs before he gave way to Joe Page, who snuffed the rally.

The Browns and Washington Senators divided a doubleheader. St. Louis winning the opener, 8-5, and Washington the nightcap, 4-3. Tommy McBride's ninth inning single drove in the run that gave the Nats the second game triumph. A four-run fifth inning against the Braves, undefeated in Youngsville Softball League competition, will take on the Sugar Grove Cubs this evening at 6:45 o'clock at the Irvine field. At the same time the Cards and the Indians will clash on the Youngsville field.

The Braves notched their sixth Thursday by swamping the Indians 22 to 12 before a large crowd on the old athletic field at Youngsville. Home runs by Bob Kings and John Raminelli and all-house triple by Johnny Olds made the sixth frame proved the final for the Indians. Jack Hardas, Braves first sacker, had perfect day at the plate, getting two doubles, a triple, a single and free pass in five tries.

Another hit the same evening, the Cubs beat the Yanks, 7-6, Sugar Grove.

PONY LEAGUE
By The Associated Press
Three weekends' play, making five in a row, have lifted the Olean Oilers to seventh to sixth place in the PONY League.

The Oilers scored on the Batavia Clippers, 5-1, last night. They gave the last place Hornell Maple Leafs a double troubling Saturday, 10-5 and 10-3.

One little percentage point means that Wells' Red Sox are back in the league's first division, with the Clippers right behind in fifth place.

The Red Sox came up with a 9-run win over the leading Lockport Blue Jays last night. Lockport beat Wellsville in a doubleheader Saturday, 4-3 and 9-5.

Bradford Blue Wings walloped Jamestown's second place Falcons last night, 10-5 while the Maple Leafs beat Hamilton Cardinals, 6-5. The latter game was called after the sixth on account of rain.

The Falcons defeated the Cardinals Saturday, 2-1, and the Clippers scored a twin victory over the Blue Wings, 6-4 and 7-0.

Through games: Batavia at Olean, Jamestown at Lockport, Hornell at Bradford, Wellsville at Hamilton.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC
By The Associated Press
Uniontown swept into a tie with Vandergrift for first place in the Middle Atlantic League during the weekend.

Yesterday the Becons beat Youngstown 15-5 for their second straight win over the skidding Colts. Meanwhile, Vandergrift was losing its second straight to Oil City, the Becons winning 5-2.

In other games, Erie walloped Butler 11-0 and Johnstown snapped a six-game New Castle winning streak by defeating the Lawrence county Giants 7-2.

Going into tonight's games, Vandergrift and Uniontown have 35 percentages with their identical records of 54 wins and 31 defeats. Erie is next only 23 games off the pace, followed by Johnstown, five games) ok. Then comes Butler 15th, back, Oil City 17, Youngstown 25, and New Castle 27.

O. C. City scored all of its runs in the fourth inning, 10 upst Vandergrift. A dropped fly ball by centerfielder Joe Damard led the way for the 10-0 win.

Erie pitched on 14 hits to easily defeat Butler. The 3-0 loss scored five runs in the second and sealed up the game with three more in the fourth.

Bill Hudock and Lamar Dorton each with three hits, paced Uniontown to its one-sided win over Youngstown. Bobby Williams hit an inside-the-park homer with the bases loaded.

The Run Down

Richie Ashburn, speedy Philadelphia outfielder, is caught between third and home in game with Cubs at Wrigley Field, Chicago. Roy Smalley ended attempted double steal by tagging Ashburn. The Cubs' Bob Walker, 8, and third baseman Andy Pafko, 48, stand ready to assist. Umpire Eabe Pinelli called the play.

National Forge Nine Posts 3-2 Triumph Over Ludlow In Thriller At North Warren

Two neighborhood rivals clashed head-on on the State Hospital diamond at North Warren Saturday afternoon in a great performance for the Forge surviving the stiff test for a 3-2 triumph over the Ludlow Wildcats.

Those who saw the game agree that it was just about the best bit of baseball seen in these parts this season.

Dean Whitaker, Forge hurler, and Frangible, Wildcat slatter, waged a tight slab duel in which Dean yielded four sacrifices while Frangible scattered nine hits.

Whitaker also started at the plate, winning his own ball game by slaying home Nick Croala in the sixth.

The Forge got started on the right foot in the first inning with a single marker. Murphy singled and advanced to second on Petrowski's sacrifice. Emmy Morrison then poled a single to left to send Murphy across home plate.

The Wildcat's came back in the third frame to knot the score when Frangible walked and scurried to the way home on a double by Swanson. In the next inning, Ludlow gained a 2-1 advantage when H. Anderson trotted to first when he was hit by a pitched ball, advanced to second on Kalin's sacrifice, and then went home on Nell's long three-base clout.

Forge rebounded in the fifth to again knot the count with a single marker. Morrison poled a single and advanced on a 2-baser's choice when Frangible walked and scurried to the way home on a double by Swanson. In the next inning, Ludlow gained a 2-1 advantage when H. Anderson trotted to first when he was hit by a pitched ball, advanced to second on Kalin's sacrifice, and then went home on Nell's long three-base clout.

Falconer Wins Rubber Match By Topping Glendora Coffee Nine, 3-2, On Russell Field

Falconer (N. Y.) Mullers won the rubber match of its series with the Glendora Coffee nine of Warren by topping the local squad, 3 to 2, in a Sunday baseball clash at Russell field.

Falconer notched a single tally in the third round, and then led the game with five markers in the fifth stanza on three singles, a walk and an error.

Glendora finally broke the ice for two runs in the seventh on singles by Tom Juliano and Don Ghewes and a runplay by Second Baseman Strickland.

Hitchcock, toting the rubber for Falconer, had plenty of stuff on the ball, fanning 16 batters and yielding only four singles and a double by Ray Berdine.

Dave Lopez, moundman for Glendora, was nicked for seven hits, including doubles by Russell and Anderson. But errors on the part of his team mates led to his downfall.

The Glendora nine, pace setter for the second half race of the Sunset League of Warren, will risk its perfect league performance this evening at 6:30 o'clock in a clash with the Warren V. F. W. on Russell field.

The same time, the Struthers Wells and State Hospital squads will tangle on the State Hospital field.

HERE and THERE

The feat of Eddie Laphy, of Jamestown, in swimming the length of Onasutauga Lake a week ago last Saturday recalls a similar attempt made by a well known local athlete as a feature at Cleveon a few years ago. The details of the former effort are of little consequence at the moment, but suffice to say, it resulted in failure. Laphy's achievement had not been accomplished hitherto in the modern history of the lake. He stroked through the choppy waters all the way from the Youngville beach to Cleveon, a distance of 15 1/2 miles. Starting at 3:45 a. m., Laphy crawled out of the water 13 hours and 35 minutes later, having accomplished his self-imposed task, and desire to make the attempt his only incentive. "Durable Eddie" followed a carefully worked out training regimen in preparing for the swim, adhering to his schedule religiously for a year or more. Prior to his Lehigh Point-Cleveon trial, he swam approximately one mile per night, following the success of his seven-mile attempt, he lengthened his nightly swim to two miles.

You probably heard it on the radio, and doubtless read it in the papers, but it bears repeating here. The army wants a song. It can't find one. So it's using a certain song as a model. It's not a military song. It must be "of military character," written in a rhythm and range which can easily be used for marching and singing. The winner will have the distinction of writing the winning song," says an army representative.

On critic's opinion of "The Babe Ruth Story" (which eventually may reach theaters in this area) We predict great success for "The Babe Ruth Story." The new film, as off to a grand start. It is corny. It is hammy. It is un-hobbled by accuracy, in detail or in viewpoint. It makes a sweet, sticky goo-goo out of one of the most colorful sports shucklers in the history of sports. The best critics condemn it as unanimously as do the sports writers who knew the Babe from the day he came up as a rookie pitcher to the day he hit three homers and announced his retirement. It is no more the Babe Ruth story than it is the Frank Merriwell story. Undoubtedly it will make millions for its producers.

This and That: Blackberries are coming on. According to our informant they should be ready in another couple weeks. The inauguration of Dr. Louis V. Benzel, youngest president of any Class A college in the country, will take place at Allegheny College Friday, October 15. Lots of folks are being used to stage during the summer months in years past—would be much appreciated if they could be revived. Windows in the Consumer Discount Co. offices should be bright and shiny this morning after the Sunday morning bath they received from two unidentified janitors. Crowd milling along the sidelines interfered greatly with the pleasure of spectators who like to sit back and enjoy the fun during much of the entertainment provided by the donors at Russell Field Saturday evening. The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. "Red" Olson at Starbrick furnished a marvelous setting for the annual Nevell Press picnic Saturday afternoon and evening, perfect mid-summer weather and charming hosts and hostesses combined to make the outing one of the most delightful this chronicler has attended in many a moon.

Packaged ice cream mixes may be prepared and frozen in either a refrigerator tray or a cranial-type freezer.

Cards to Hold Baseball Try-out School Here

Pop Kelchner and Joe Cusick to Check Diamond Prospects

The St. Louis Cardinals, always contenders for pennant honors in the National League race, announced they will give young players in the district a chance to show their stuff in the Red Birds' conduct a tryout camp at the State hospital grounds, North Warren, Tuesday and Wednesday, August 17 and 18.

The camp, made possible through the cooperation of the hospital, will be held at the Warren, Pa. site, one of more than 80 scheduled for the Cardinals this summer. It will be free to all players in this area who feel they have what it takes to become professional baseball players.

Tryouts will get under way at 9 o'clock each morning and continue throughout the day. There will be drills in running, fielding, and throwing, and regular games will be played between teams made up of players in attendance.

S. C. "Pop" Kelchner and Joe Cusick, veteran Cardinals scouts, will be in charge of the camp. They will watch the players as they go through their paces, offering minor contracts to those who are judged worthy.

Each player in camp will have excellent opportunity to show what he can do at his particular position. Players should bring their own gloves, shoes and uniforms if they have them. All expenses incident to attending the camp will be refunded to any player signed to contracts.

AVES SET HOT PACE IN YOUNGVILLE LOOP

The Braves, undefeated in Youngville Softball League competition, will take on the Sugar Grove Cubs this evening at 6:45 o'clock at the Irvine field. At the time the Cards and the Indians will clash on the Youngville field.

The Braves notched their sixth win Thursday by swamping the Cubs, 22 to 12 before a large crowd on the old athletic field at Youngville. Home runs by Bob Kings and John Randinelli and a full-house triple by Johnny Olds made the sixth frame proved the final for the Indians. Jack Harbo, Braves first sacker, had perfect day at the plate, getting a double, a triple, a single and a run in five tries.

In another tilt the same evening, the Cubs beat the Yanks, 7-6, at Sugar Grove.

A four-run fifth inning against

Veteran Nelson Potter enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to defeat the Braves in Boston 9-6. The defeat placed the Braves' first place National League margin to five games over the New York Giants. Four Boston errors aided the Redbirds.

Marty Marion paced the Cards' 15-hit attack with a double and three singles.

Rain washed out scheduled doubleheaders between Chicago and New York at the Polo Grounds, Pittsburgh and Brooklyn at Ebbets Field, and Cincinnati and Philadelphia at Shibe Park.

Yanks Fail In Olympics Field Events

Olympic Stadium, Wembley, England, Aug. 2—(AP)—Everyone admits now that the freshly made, 1948 Olympic games track is fast—but the Americans are asking today what's the matter in the field events.

Six regular Olympic track championships now have been decided. In the three running races, two Olympic records have been bettered and one tied. In the three field events Olympic records are untouched.

The problem is a burning one to the American team, for it is in the field events that the Americans hope to make their best showing.

Although Sunday was a day of rest for most athletes because of British religious tradition, it was necessary to run off two water polo games because of protests. Sunday was the only time available.

Hungary defeated Egypt, 5-2, and Italy and Yugoslavia tied, 4-4.

Before the games started the big argument was over the track. The British started making it only two weeks ago when dog racing was suspended in the Olympic stadium. Cinders, ground red tile and clay were used, and track men shook their heads because they didn't think the result would be good. No one gave a thought to the field events.

The layout in the stadium is entirely unlike any seen in America. The track has a brick red surface contrasting pleasantly with the clean, green infield. At either end of the oval, about where the curve starts, are the jumping pits, and all around them is a surface of the same red type as the running track.

It is this arrangement that has disturbed some of the Americans.

Use fresh peaches for a Surprise Fruit Rollup. Make up a recipe of rich baking powder biscuit dough, roll it in rectangular shape, spread with a layer of current jelly, add a layer of sugared sliced peaches, roll up as you would a jelly roll and bake in a hot oven. Slice and serve with whipped evaporated milk or cream that has been sweetened and flavored with vanilla.

Muffins for breakfast can be made quickly if the dry ingredients are measured and sifted the night before.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC

By The Associated Press
Uniontown swept into a tie with Vandergrift for first place in the Middle Atlantic League during the weekend.

Yesterday the Barons beat Youngstown 15-5 for their second straight win over the skidding Colts. Meanwhile, Vandergrift was losing its second straight to Oil City, the Refiners winning 5-2.

In other games, Erie walloped Butler 11-6 and Johnstown snapped a six-game New Castle winning streak by defeating the Lawrence Countians 7-2.

Going into tonight's games, Vandergrift and Uniontown have 435 percent wins with their identical records of 54 wins and 31 defeats. Erie is next, only 2 1/2 games off the pace, followed by Johnstown, five games 1-6. Then comes Butler 15 1/2 back, Oil City 17, Youngstown 25, and New Castle 27.

Oil City scored all of its runs in the fourth inning to upset Vandergrift. A dropped fly ball by Centerfielder Joe Bernard led the way for the scoring.

Erie pounded out 14 hits to easily defeat Butler. The sailors scored five runs in the second and sewed up the game with three more in the fourth.

Bill Hudock and Lamar Dorton each with three hits, paced Uniontown to its one-sided win over Youngstown. Bobby Williams hit an inside-the-park homer with the bases loaded.

Falconer (N. Y.) Millers won the rubber match of its series with the Glendora Coffee nine of Warren by thumping the local squad, 6 to 2, in a Sunday baseball clash at Russell field.

Falconer notched a single tally in the third round, and then led the game with five markers in the fifth stanza on three singles, a walk and an error.

Glendora finally broke the ice for two runs in the seventh on singles by Tom Juliano and Don Gheres and a misplay by Second Baseman Strickland.

Hitchcock, toting the rubber for Falconer, had plenty of stuff on the ball, fanning 16 batters and yielding only four singles and a double by Ray Berdine.

Dave Lopez, moundman for Glendora, was nicked for seven hits, including doubles by Russell and Andrews, but errors on the part of his team mates led to his downfall.

The Glendora nine, pace setter for the second half race of the Sunset League of Warren, will risk its perfect league performance this evening at 6:30 o'clock in a clash with the Warren V. F. W. on Russell field. At the same time, the Struthers Wells and State Hospital squads will tangle on the State Hospital field.

The Run Down

Richie Ashburn, speedy Philadelphia outfielder, is caught between third and home in game with Cubs at Wrigley Field, Chicago. Roy Smalley ended attempted double steal by tagging Ashburn while Rube Walker, 8, and third baseman Andy Pafko, 48, stand ready to assist. Umpire Babe Pinelli called the play.

National Forge Nine Posts 3-2 Triumph Over Ludlow In Thriller At North Warren

Two neighborhood rivals clashed head-on on the State Hospital diamond at North Warren Saturday afternoon with the National Forge surviving the stiff test for a 3-2 triumph over the Ludlow Wildcats.

Those who saw the game agree that it was just about the best bit of baseball seen in these parts this season.

Dean Whitaker, Forge hurler, and Fragale, Wildcat slanter, waged a tight slab duel in which Dean yielded four safeties while Fragale scattered nine hits.

Whitaker also starred at the plate, winning his own ball game by singling home Nick Creola in the sixth.

The Forge got started on the right foot in the first inning with a single marker. Murphy singled and advanced to second on Petrewski's sacrifice. Emmy Morrison then poked a single to left to send Murphy across home plate.

The Wildcats came back in the third frame to knot the count when Fragale walked, and scurried all the way home on a double by Swanson. In the next inning, Ludlow gained a 2-1 advantage when H. Anderson trotted to first when he was hit by a piteous ball, advanced to second on Kalin's sacrifice, and then went home on Neil's long three-base blast.

Forge rebounded in the fifth to again knot the count with a single marker. Morrison poked a single and advanced on a fielder's choice with Harry Rosequist going out at first. Then Frisbie came through in the clutch with a single along the first base line.

The tie was broken in the next frame with the Forge going out in front for keeps.

Umpires: Solock, Wright.

2b Hits: Swanson, Rosequist. 3b Hit: Neil. Hits off Whitaker: 4; off Fragale 3. Bases on Balls off Whitaker 8; by Fragale 6. Runs Batted In: Swanson, Morrison, Massa, Whitaker.

Falconer Wins Rubber Match By Topping Glendora Coffee Nine, 3-2, On Russell Field

Falconer (N. Y.) Millers won the rubber match of its series with the Glendora Coffee nine of Warren by thumping the local squad, 6 to 2, in a Sunday baseball clash at Russell field.

Falconer notched a single tally in the third round, and then led the game with five markers in the fifth stanza on three singles, a walk and an error.

Glendora finally broke the ice for two runs in the seventh on singles by Tom Juliano and Don Gheres and a misplay by Second Baseman Strickland.

Hitchcock, toting the rubber for Falconer, had plenty of stuff on the ball, fanning 16 batters and yielding only four singles and a double by Ray Berdine.

HERE and THERE

The feat of Eddie Laphy, of Jamestown, in swimming the length of Chautauqua Lake a week ago last Saturday recalls a similar attempt made by a well known local athlete as a feature at Celoron a few years ago. The details of the former effort are of little consequence at the moment, but suffice to say, it resulted in failure. Laphy's achievement had not been accomplished hitherto in the modern history of the lake. He stroked through the choppy waters all the way from the Mayville beach to Celoron, a distance of 16 1/2 miles. Starting at 8:45 a. m., Laphy crawled out of the water 13 hours and 35 minutes later, having accomplished his self-imposed task, his desire to make the attempt his only incentive. "Durable Eddie" followed a carefully worked out training regimen in preparing for the swim, adhering to his schedule religiously for four months. Prior to his Bemus Point-Celoron trial, he swam approximately one mile per night. Following the success of his seven-mile attempt, he lengthened his nightly swim to two miles.

You probably heard it on the radio, and doubtless read it before, but it bears repeating here: The army wants a song. It can't draft one. It can't requisition one. So it's using another system—a contest. First Army headquarters says either soldiers or civilians may submit entries. What is wanted is a song "worthy of becoming an over-all army song." It must be "of military character, written in a rhythm and range which can easily be used for marching and singing." The winner will have the distinction of writing the winning song, says an army representative.

On critic's opinion of "The Babe Ruth Story" which eventually may reach theaters in this area: We predict great success for "The Babe Ruth Story." The new film is off to a grand start. It is corny. It is hammy. It is un-hobbled by accuracy in detail or in viewpoint. It makes a sweet, sticky goo-goo out of one of the most colorful swashbucklers in the history of sports. The best critics condemn it as unanimously as do the sports writers who knew the Babe from the day he came up as a rookie pitcher to the day he hit three homers and announced his retirement. It is no more the Babe Ruth story than it is the Frank Merriwell story. Undoubtedly it will make millions for its producers.

This and That: Blackberries are coming on. According to our informant they should be ready in another couple weeks. The inauguration of Dr. Louis V. Benzel, youngest president of any Class A college in the country, will take place at Allegheny College Friday, October 15. Lot of folks are missing the concerts the VFW band used to stage during the summer months in years past—would be much appreciated if they could be revived. Windows in the Consumer Discount Co. offices should be bright and shiny this morning after the Sunday morning bath they received from two unidentified janitors. Crowd milling around the sidewalks interfered greatly with the pleasure of spectators who like to sit back and enjoy the fun during much of the entertainment provided by the donkeys at Russell Field Saturday evening. The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. "Red" Olson at Starbrick furnished a marvelous setting for the annual Newell Press picnic Saturday afternoon and evening, perfect mid-summer weather and charming hosts and hostesses combined to make the outing one of the most delightful this chronicle has attended in many a moon.

Package ice cream mixes may be prepared and frozen in either a refrigerator tray or a crank-type freezer.

Where B-29 Fell

Six of 20 U. S. airmen aboard a globe-circling B-29 were reported lost after the plane crash-landed in the sea near Aden, Saudi Arabia, on the Persian Gulf. The plane was one of three U. S. Air Force B-29's which took off from Aden bound for Colombo, Ceylon.

Local Moose Officers Will Attend Meet

The local lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, will have official representation at the fraternity's 60th annual international convention at Mooseheart, Ill., and Chicago, Aug. 15th to 19th. The first two days of the convention which is expected to draw 25,000 to 30,000 visitors will be held at Mooseheart and the balance of the business sessions will be held in Chicago.

There will be a special memorial service for the late James J. Davis, founder of Mooseheart and director general of the Moose for forty-one years. He died last November. The memorial services will be conducted by Executive Director Malcolm R. Giles and Supreme Governor F. Roy York. An eternal flame will be lighted to the memory of Mr. Davis.

This year is an historic one in Moose history. In addition to being the 60th anniversary of the order, it is the 35th anniversary of Mooseheart. The nationwide campaign will officially come to an end on the date the convention begins—August 15th.

The local lodge No. 109 will be officially represented by Lester E. Nero, governor of the lodge, and Gust G. Sandstrom, past governor and local membership director. In addition to the official representatives, several other members and delegates from the Women of the Moose will attend. All sessions in Chicago will be held at the Palmer House and the Women of the Moose will hold their meetings in the Stevens Hotel.

LUDLOW

Troop 50 Boy Scouts left Wednesday for Camp Olmsted for their summer session of two weeks. Tom Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. from the Pacific area, will be the Ludlow camp director.

The Explorer Scouts are making plans for their trip to Washington, D. C. and to Cook's Forest. Mrs. B. K. Connelly and Mrs. William Hanson were Camp Birdseye guests last Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Hanson played her accordion and taught Swedish folk-dancing to the Girl Scouts.

Milford Nordine, of New York City, was a weekend guest of his sister, Mrs. Ed Wenstran.

Mr. and Mrs. Monte Jones and daughter, Judy, of Redbank, N. J., spent the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. William Nystrom and family have left for Cleveland where they will spend their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Fulton and children were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Johnson.

John Nelson is slowly improving from his recent illness.

Mrs. Dan Swanson returned home over the weekend after having spent the past week as a medical patient at the Kane Community Hospital.

Maurice Nelson is still a patient at the Warren General Hospital, where he is a medical patient. He has all the well wishes of his friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Carlson have arrived home after having spent several days in Poughkeepsie with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Carlson.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyall Elder and children, of Pittsburgh, were weekend visitors with relatives in

Find My Killer

By MANLY WELLMAN

Chapter 21

"I'd been ready for almost anything but that. 'Will you confess that to the police?' I asked him.

"Why not? They'll find it out!" "And why," I asked, "did you do all this?"

"Isn't that a superfluous question, Yates? I did it to cover my own guilt. I killed Dick Ealing."

"How did you manage such a good murder?" I asked him.

"I shot him with his own derringer, and put it in his hand and closed his fingers around it," said Kuhl.

"Wait," I said. "When the door was smashed down, Pettigrew checked the position of the key—in the lock on the inside of the door. He called Dr. Stokes' attention to it."

"Well," said Kuhl, and now his voice was no longer clear and steady, but shook like his hand. "I just pulled the door shut and let it catch."

"With the key in the lock?" "That's right. Yes, with the key in the lock."

"I thought for a moment, 'I don't think it would work. Kuhl. That was a patent lock, and it closes or opens by the key only. If the door was locked, and the key was in the lock, it would have to be turned from the inside.'"

"Oh!" cried Diane Ealing, and jumped up. "Mr. Yates, don't you see what Jim's trying to do? He didn't kill Dick. He's trying to take the blame because he thinks I did it."

"I needed only the one look at Jim's face to see that she had told the truth about what he was doing and thinking."

"I was calling on my wife," he said.

No wonder he'd tried to hold that back. Diane Ealing was furious with him on the instant. Her anger exploded like a shell.

looked across him at Diane Ealing, winked at her, then turned and walked out. As I closed the front door, I could hear their voices again, both ringing out at once, fast and excited.

AT the nearest pay phone I called J. D.'s office. "News, chief," I said. "Kuhl admitted that he framed Dick Stokes. I'll go into that in detail when I get back to the office. Tell me where does Kuhl's estranged wife live? You were calling on her a couple of days ago."

"She stays with her aunt, Mrs. Dora Howard, in the Lowell Park District. Why?"

"I want to talk to her. Give me the address."

J. D. gave it to me, and directions how to get to Lowell Park. At the house with the proper number I rang a bell and a woman came to the door.

"Yes," she answered my question. "I'm Mrs. Kuhl."

I didn't blame Kuhl for wanting to trade her in on Diane Ealing. Average height, average figure, average face, with slacks and sweater over enough foundation garments to harness a horse, big thick-soled wedges, and hair bleached to the color of raw, new rope done in a hair-do straight out of the funny papers. "What do you want?" she asked, in the empty high voice you hear from the made-up lips of so many women.

"What I want to ask is about your husband."

"So I hear. Now, Mrs. Kuhl, who came to see you the day of the murder?"

"An hour and a half or two hours. We didn't get anywhere."

A little more of tact and I thanked her and went out.

Driving back to the office from that meeting with Mrs. James Kuhl, I tried to think where I'd go from there for a new clue and a new trail. I'd have to clarify things in a good talk with J. D.

But J. D. met me in the outer office. She didn't pause for much more than long enough to put out her hand for the car keys.

"I'm overdue on a lead of my own."

"Where away?"

"At Dr. Stokes' home," she said, and left.

Dr. Stokes. She had said Dr. Stokes, after saying she'd ignore him from then on forever. I walked into the rear office, where Holmgren was sitting. He looked up and smiled at me.

"Where did this latest tip come from?" I demanded.

"From under the door. We were discussing what we had on the case backward and forward and from side to side, and then somebody knocked. I went out and opened the door. Nobody was there, but a folded note had been stuck underneath. There it is."

The note read:

"How much is it worth for you to know I can tell you really kill R. Eling Talk to me about this quick before its to late"

Alchizer

"She went buzzing out there—" Holmgren started to go on.

"And I'm buzzing right out after her."

J. D.'s car was parked in front of Dr. Stokes' house and as I leaped up the steps I saw that the front door was open. I walked in, through the hall, and into the parlor. I almost bumped into J. D.

She stood like a statue, staring and gazing at what lay on the floor.

It was Alchizer, flat on his face with his arms out and a stain of dark dampness around his head. Beyond him, half hidden behind an easy chair, lay somebody with a checked coat and pants. I knew those clothes. It would be Al Bensinger.

Alchizer

Chapter 22

"Oh," she said, "Jackson Yates. I was wishing you were here."

"Get hold of yourself and hang on," I told her, catching her by the elbows and clamping them hard to steady her. "How did it happen?"

"I don't know."

I walked to where Alchizer lay, stooped down and studied him. Then I went to Bensinger, who lay on his back. Right in Bensinger's head, between his black eyebrows, was a round hole. There was some smudge around the wound—it hadn't been a contact shot, but pretty close in. The hole size was just short of 45 diameter—the same bore, say, as Ealing's derringer had fired. Alchizer, face down as he was, would show me no wound unless I turned him over, and I wasn't dumb enough to do that.

I went back to J. D. "If you don't know how it happened, just what do you know?" I asked.

"She said, 'I had a note at the office.'"

"I saw it. Holmgren pointed it out to me."

"Well, I came out here. I knocked and rang, but nobody answered. The door wasn't tightly closed, though it wasn't all the way ajar. I pushed it open and came in. There they lay. Both of them."

Back to Alchizer. I stooped and touched his cheek with my finger. It was cool, but not cold. I went to Bensinger. His hand felt the same.

"Not dead very long, either."

together. I nipped out of my taxi just as you got out of your car. We came in at the door side by side. We both saw each other, and neither of us saw the bodies first. They were dead when we came in. That way we can alibi each other."

She went out, as quietly obedient as a little girl listening to teacher. I watched her. The fresh air must have helped her, for she got into the car all right and drove off. As she came to the corner, she was already driving at her usual ball-hooting clip. Then I went back to the phone and called the police. "Give me homicide," I said.

There was the click-click of the connection. "Homicide," rumbled the voice of Winkie.

"This is Jackson Yates, the investigator," I said. "Is your boss there—Ranieri?"

A moment of silence. Then a new voice. "This is Ranieri. What do you want, Yates? Maybe you're ready to make some sort of statement. I'm about ready to pull you in, anyway."

"I'm returning good for evil," I told him. "I'm doing some of your work for you. There's been a double murder at Dr. Stokes' home, Al Bensinger—you know who he is, don't you? And Alchizer, the doctor's house boy."

"You wait right there," said Ranieri. "If you aren't there when I come, I'll pull you in."

"I wouldn't be anywhere else for the world," I said, and he hung up.

I WENT back to look at the two bodies. The room felt stuffy, though not warm. If I hadn't been double-schooled in how to act at the scene of a murder, I'd have opened a window. I looked at a thermostat that automatically regulated the furnace—it registered about seventy-two or three degrees, but it was still stuffy. Or, I asked myself, was my imagination?

Then I stopped that and looked at Bensinger. There was something funny about his position. Because of that slug in his brain, of course. A bullet between the eyes shuts off the meter right then and there, without waiting a split second. Nine times out of ten you fall forward and lie on unless it's a .43 bullet with a blopper of cordite back of it, like a serving from a police spec or an old-time frontier mode. That's enough of a belt to throw you backward badly, wherever it hits you. But then a .43, with the usual charge that goes with it, doesn't stop inside the head, it goes right on through, opening up the back of the skull. I looked at the wound again. It wasn't quite a .43—ever without air calipers. I figured a hair less. .41. Such as comes out of a derringer.

I bent down to look at his clothes. They weren't terribly messed up. His loud jacket was fastened with one button and looked almost neat on him—to me, it had fallen and been turned. Perhaps somebody had been through his inside pocket and had buttoned the jacket again. I patted at the button and it shone as if it had been polished. Whoever had touched it last was leaving none of nature's little calling cards.

I looked at my watch. Ten twenty by now—Ranieri was five minutes on the way. I went back to the phone and called the office of Dr. Stokes.

His receptionist hesitated about connecting me if I wouldn't say what my business was, but I butlied her into it. The doctor's voice came on. "You'd better come out to your house," I told him. "There's been a murder her. Two murders. Come on out."

Local Moose Officers Will Attend Meet

The local lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, will have official representation at the fraternity's 60th annual international convention at Mooseheart, Ill., and Chicago, Aug. 15th to 19th. The first two days of the convention which is expected to draw 25,000 to 50,000 visitors will be held at Mooseheart and the balance of the business sessions will be held in Chicago.

There will be a special memorial service for the late James J. Davis, founder of Mooseheart and director general of the Moose for forty-one years. He died last November. The memorial services will be conducted by Executive Director Malcolm R. Giles and Supreme Governor F. Roy Yoke. An eternal flame will be lighted to the memory of Mr. Davis.

This year is an historic one in Moose history. In addition to being the 60th anniversary of the order, it is the 35th anniversary of Mooseheart. The nationwide campaign will officially come to an end on the date the convention begins—August 15th.

The local lodge No. 109 will be officially represented by Lester E. Nero, governor of the lodge, and Gust G. Sandstrom, past governor and local membership director. In addition to the official representatives, several other members and delegates from the Women of the Moose will attend. All sessions in Chicago will be held at the Palmer House and the Women of the Moose will hold their meetings in the Stevens Hotel.

Chapter 21
"I'd been ready for almost anything but that. 'Will you confess that to the police?' I asked him."

"Why not? They'll find it out."

"And why?" I asked, "did you do all this?"

"Isn't that a superfluous question, Yates? I did it to cover my own guilt. I killed Dick Ealing."

"How did you manage such a good murder?" I asked him.

"I shot him with his own deringer and put it in his hand and closed his fingers around it," said Kuhl.

"Wait," I said. "When the door was smashed down, Pettigrew checked the position of the key—in the lock on the inside of the door. He called Dr. Stokes' attention to it."

"Well," said Kuhl, and now his voice was no longer clear and steady, but shook like his hand. "I just pulled the door shut and let it catch."

"With the key in the lock?"

"That's right. Yes, with the key in the lock."

"I thought for a moment. 'I don't think it would work. Kuhl. That was a patent lock and it closes or opens by the key only. If the door was locked, and the key was in the lock, it would have to be turned from the inside.'"

"Oh!" cried Diane Ealing, and jumped up. "Mr. Yates, don't you see what Jim's trying to do? He didn't kill Dick. He's trying to take the blame because he thinks I did it."

"I needed only the one look at James Kuhl's face to see that she had told the truth about what he was doing and thinking."

"Before you get bitter toward him," I admonished Diane Ealing, "just remember how you thought he was the murderer."

Kuhl swung around to face me, so savagely that I imagined for a moment he wanted to bite me. "What was that, Yates? Just say that again."

"She was trying to cover up for you before you came," I said.

"Where were you, Jim?" asked Diane Ealing sharply. "You tell me, and at once."

LUDLOW

Troop 50 Boy Scouts left Wednesday for Camp Olmsted for their summer session of two weeks. Tom Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. from the Pacific area, will be the Ludlow camp director.

The Explorer Scouts are making plans for their trip to Washington, D. C., and to Cook's Forest. Mrs. B. K. Connelly and Mrs. William Hanson were Camp Birdsall Edey guests last Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Hanson played her accordion and taught Swedish folk-dancing to the Girl Scouts.

Milford Nordine, of New York City, was a weekend guest of his sister, Mrs. Ed Wenstran.

Mr. and Mrs. Monte Jones and daughter, Judy, of Redbank, N. J., spent the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. William Nystrom and family have left for Cleveland where they will spend their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Fulton and children were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Johnson.

John Nelson is slowly improving from his recent illness.

Mrs. Dan Swanson returned home over the weekend after having spent the past week as a medical patient at the Kane Community Hospital.

Maurice Nelson is still a patient at the Warren General Hospital, where he is a medical patient. He has all the well wishes of his friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Carlson have arrived home after having spent several days in Poughkeepsie with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Carlson.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyall Elder and children, of Pittsburgh, were weekend visitors with relatives in

Ludlow. They were accompanied by Miss Nancy Carlson, daughter

Chapter 22
"O. H.," she said, "Jackson Yates. I was wishing you were here."

"Get hold of yourself and hang on," I told her, catching her by the elbows and clamping them hard to steady her. "How did it happen?"

"I don't know."

I walked to where Alchisez lay, stooped down and studied him. Then I went to Bensinger, who lay on his back. Right in Bensinger's head, between his black eyebrows, was a round hole. There was some smudge around the wound—it hadn't been a contact shot, but pretty close in. The hole size was just short of 45 diameter—the same bore, say, as Ealing's derringer had fired. Alchisez, face down as he was, would show me no wound unless I turned him over, and I wasn't dumb enough to do that.

I went back to J. D. "If you don't know how it happened, just what do you know?" I asked.

She said, "I had a note at the office."

"I saw it, Holmgren pointed it out to me."

"Well, I came out here. I knocked and rang, but nobody answered. The door wasn't tightly closed, though it wasn't all the way ajar. I pushed it open and came in. There they lay. Both of them."

"Back to Alchisez. I stooped and touched his cheek with my finger. It was cool, but not cold. I went to Bensinger. His hand felt the same."

"Not dead very long, either."

"Go back to the office. Remember everything you've seen here. Every single thing. Be ready to tell the truth, except for one lie."

"Lie?" she echoed.

"Here's the lie, and commit it to memory. Lou and I came in together. I nipped out of my taxi just as you got out of your car. We came in at the door side by side. We both saw each other, and neither of us saw the bodies first. They were dead when we came in. That way we can alibi each other."

She went out, as quietly obedient as a little girl listening to a teacher. I watched her. The fresh air must have helped her, for she got into the car all right and drove off. As she came to the corner, she was already driving at her usual ball-hooting clip. Then I went back to the phone and called the police. "Give me homicide," I said.

There was the click-click of the connection. "Holmeide," rumbled the voice of Winkie.

"This is Jackson Yates, the investigator," I said. "Is your boss there—Ranley?"

A moment of silence. Then a new voice. "This is Ranley. What do you want, Yates? Maybe you're ready to make some sort of statement. I'm about ready to pull you in, anyway."

"In returning good for evil," I told him. "I'm doing some of your work for you. There's been a double murder at Dr. Stokes' home. Al Bensinger—you know who he is, don't you? And Alchisez, the doctor's house boy."

"You wait right there," said Ranley. "If you aren't there when I come, I'll pull you in."

"I wouldn't be anywhere else for the world," I said, and he hung up.

I went back to look at the two bodies. The room felt stuffy, though not warm. If I hadn't been double-schooled in how to act at the scene of a murder, I'd have opened a window. I looked at a thermostat that automatically regulated the furnace—it registered about seventy-two or three degrees, but it was still stuffy. Or, I asked myself, was my imagination?

Then I stopped that and looked at Bensinger. There was something funny about his position.

Because of that slug in his brain, of course. A bullet between the eyes shuts off the meter right then and there, without waiting a split second. Nine times out of ten you fall forward and lie still unless it's a .45 bullet with a 8 hopper of cordite back of it. Hit a serving from a police spec, or an old-time frontier mode. That's enough of a belt to throw you backward bodily, wherever it hits you. But then a .45, with the usual charge that goes with it, doesn't stop inside the head. It goes right on through, opening up the back of the skull. I looked at the wound again. It wasn't quite a .45—ever without an calipers, I figured a hair less. .41. Such as comes out of a derringer.

I bent down to look at his clothes. They weren't terribly messed up. His loud jacket was fastened with one button and looked almost neat on him—it was, if he'd fallen and been turned. Perhaps somebody had been through his inside pockets and had buttoned the jacket again. I peered at the button as it shone as if it had been polished. Whoever had touched him was leaving none of nature's little calling cards.

I looked at my watch. Twenty by now—Ranley was five minutes on the way. I went back to the phone and called the office of Dr. Stokes.

His receptionist hesitated about connecting me if I wouldn't say what my business was, but I butted her into it. The doctor's voice came on. "You'd better come on to your house," I told him. "There's been a murder here. Two murders. Come on out."
